LORRAINE.

"Are you ready for your steeple chase, Lorraine, Lorraine, Lorree?
Barum, Barum, Barum, Barum, Barum, Baree!
You're booked to ride your capping race today at Coulterlee,
You're booked to ride Vindictive, for all the world to see,
To keep him straight and keep him first and win the run for me."

She clasped her newborn baby, poor Lorraine, Lorraine, Lorree.
"I cannot ride Vindictive, as any man might see,
And I will not ride Vindictive with this baby on my knee.
He's killed a boy, he's killed a man, and why must he kill me?"

'Unless you ride Vindictive, Lorraine, Lorraine, Lorree,
Unless you ride Vindictive today at Coulterlee
And land him safe across the brook and win the blank for me
It's you may keep your baby, for you'll get no keep from me."

"That husbands could be cruel," said Lorraine, Lorraine, Lorree,
"That husbands could be cruel I have known for seasons three.
But, oh, to ride Vindictive while a baby cries for me
And be killed across a fence at last, for all the world to see!"

She mastered young Vindictive—oh, the gallant lass was she—
And kept him straight and won the race as near as near could be,
But he killed her at the brook against a pollard willow tree,
Oh, he killed her at the brook, the brute, for all the world to see,
And no one but the baby cried for poor Lorraine, Lorree.

—Charles Kingsley.

A TRAGEDY BY EAR.

We happened to come out of the club together, and so I walked along the boulevard with M. Maroux, a man with a kindly face, but marked with an infinite melancholy.

"Will you wait a minute for me?" said I as we reached the postoffice. "I wish to go in and telephone."

He started at the last word, and I saw his grip tighten on his cane. When I returned, he still seemed nervous, and to break an uncomfortable silence I made some commonplace remark about what a marvelous invention the telephone was and what inestimable services the progress of science was doing us every day.

"Do you think so?" replied M. Maroux in a tone of bitter irony. "It seems to me, on the contrary, that science, far from aiding us, only emphasizes our human weakness and cruelly multiplies the means that can cause us suffering. But you will understand me better if I give you an example of what I mean from my own experience:

"I was spending my autumn vacation with Louise, my wife, and Marcel, my little son, at my country place at Morande, which I had just bought. It was in the country about three leagues out of Marseilles. Nanette, our old servant, was both housekeeper and cook. Blaise, who was devoted to me, delighted at being once more near the city where his worthy old mother lived, fulfilled the functions of gardener and had his quarters in a detached outhouse.

"With my gun on my arm and my two dogs at my heels I used to wander about all day with my wife and baby in that delightful solitude. To make amends for our isolation, I had a telephone line put up to connect with the central office at Marseilles, and by it every evening, as I sat in my bedchamber, I could learn what had been done during the day at my factory in Paris.

"Our peaceful life was interrupted by a notice from my superintendent. By making personal application I could probably obtain an important government order. The weather was so fine and Marcel seemed so well that Louise decided to wait for me at Morande. But on the eve of my departure for Paris the rain fell in torrents. When the hired vehicle arrived before my door, at sight of the immense blackness of the fields and woods I felt a sudden gripping at my heart.

"'You will be away only two nights,' Louise reassured me. 'Nanette will sleep near my room. Blaise has your gun, and from the house where he sleeps he could hear us call, and the dogs are an excellent guard. What could happen to us?'

"I kissed Louise and Marcel and started on my journey. On the train I passed a most uneasy night, and I had no sooner reached Paris than I jumped out of the carriage and hastened to a telephone office. Communication being established, I heard, nasal and muffled, but still very sweet to me, the voice of my wife.

"'Hello!' I called. 'How did you pass the night, Louise? Were you very frightened?'

"'Yes, a little—Nanette especially. We did not get to sleep until almost daybreak because Nanette thought she heard steps in the garden. The dogs, which we had forgotten to untie, had been barking a long time. At last we opened the window and called Blaise. He took the gun, loosed the dogs and made a tour of the house, but he did not find anything suspicious. Baby, who did not suspect anything, the fine little fellow, has waked up and is calling me. Goodby. If you have a moment before dinner, call me up again.'

"Only half reassured, I plunged into the business in hand and was not able to go to the telephone again until after 8 o'clock. I had to call a long time.

"'Hello! Hello!' I called. 'Why don't you answer, Louise? What is the matter?'

"'Something we did not expect this afternoon. The shutters had been fastened, the dogs untied, and Nanette had put up a bed for Blaise in the hall, in order to save us the terrors of last night, when a boy from the village brought a note for Blaise. His mother has suddenly been taken very ill, and she wanted him to come to her immediately. The boy, whom we had never seen before, went away again as soon as he had delivered the note, without giving us any further information. Blaise, who adores his mother, was quite upset. He did not want to leave us alone before daylight, but his sorrowful face told how dearly the delay would cost him. I thought that if this woman dies tonight I shall have prevented poor Blaise from receiving her last blessing. So I overcame my scruples and made him go. He promised to return this evening, and to save time he will drive back. I have just bolted the doors after him. That is why I kept you waiting. Now, how is that business affair getting along?'

"'Very well; but let us talk about yourself. You should not have let Blaise go. Even if he drives back he cannot return before 10 or 11 o'clock. My sole confidence was in knowing that he was near you, and now he is gone. And then that boy who ran away before you had time to think of making sure his news was true! At any rate Blaise has left you the two dogs and the gun, has he not?'

"'The two dogs are asleep on the porch. As for the gun, Blaise must have left it in the hall. I shall go and make sure. Can you hear Marcel? He is sitting in my lap and is saying good-night to you. Listen.'

"'Good night, papa, good night.'

"'Good night, my darlings. I must get a bite of dinner now, and then I will call you again.'

"Once outside I felt oppressed with what my wife had just told me. I had dissimulated my own anxiety in order not to add to her fears, but that uneasiness, which had hardly been quieted by the first conversation, now waxed stronger at the thought of this strange, incredible letter which had taken away my wife's one defender, the only man in the house. My thoughts took so dark a turn that by the time I reached the hotel I could not swallow a mouthful. I left the table to return to the telephone office, but my agent found me and laid before me a lot of details which were essential to the success of my venture. I could not dismiss him immediately, and it was late when I re-entered the telephone office. My heart throbbed with impatience and my hand trembled so that I could scarcely hold the receiver to my ear. It was some seconds before I could hear anything.

"'Hello, Louise, hello!' I cried. 'Are you there? Answer me.'

"At last I heard her voice, but it was low, oppressed, filled with terror.

"'Oh, it's you at last! For the last hour I have been nearly crazed. I could not find the gun—that boy must have stolen it when he went away. Blaise has not come back. They must have got him out of the way on purpose. Oh, I am losing my head! I can scarcely breathe for terror—I think I hear—in the garden—far away— Wait while I listen.'

"Clutching at the box for support, I could only cry, 'Louise, I beg of you, do not leave me in this silence—what do you hear?'

"'The dogs are growling—now they are barking—barking furiously. They have run to the bottom of the garden—now, suddenly they are still. There is a deathly silence. But—yes, it sounds like muffled footsteps on the pebbled walk—as if some one were coming toward the house'—

"'Go on, speak, Louise! I am strangling. I shall go mad. What do you hear—what do you hear now?'

"'Nothing now—almost nothing—yes, there is a gentle, steady grating sound, as if a chisel were being slipped under a shutter to force it. The sash gives way—a window is broken. Oh, I am terrified!'

"I shook the telephone box in my agony. 'Telephone to Marseilles,' I cried, 'to warn the police!'

"'How can I? The city is three leagues away. They would come too late—and I cannot—oh, I am going mad'—

"'Call for help or hide yourself—yes, that's it. Take the little one and hide.'

"'I cannot. I have no strength left—they are coming, the stairs creak—they are in the hall—they are feeling along the wall—they try the door—Marcel! My God—help, hel'—

"There were two muffled cries of terror, then a vague, confused noise, then a jumble of indefinable sounds, then silence. Something seemed to crack in my brain, and I fell unconscious."

Gasping as if he had lived through this terrible scene again, M. Maroux concluded: "From Le Gazette Judiciare you can learn the details of the crime. It is known as 'the Morande atrocity.' By it I lost my wife, my child and my two servants. But no report can describe, no mere words can ever express, the hideous nightmare that modern science brought me, the frightful torture of a man who, at a distance of 100 leagues, hears the despairing cries of his wife and son, who are being strangled while he is powerless to do more than batter impotently on a wooden telephone box."—Translated For Argonaut From the French of Charles Foley.

Spencer and the Rooster.

Herbert Spencer is peculiarly sensitive to discordant noises, or those which he regards as such. A sound which is said to make Mr. Spencer forget that he is a philosopher is chanticleer's welcome to the dawn. When the roosters begin to crow, Mr. Spencer ceases to sleep, and there are whispers that the remarks he makes on such occasions thoroughly disprove his affiliation with the stoics. Some years ago, during a stay in Scotland, he was fairly maddened by the performance of a cock that crowed inconceivably early. After a period of prolonged suffering it occurred to him that if the bird were tied to its perch it would be unable to rise for the act of crowing. So, by a fine effort of induction, Mr. Spencer went to the henhouse soon after midnight and with his pocket handkerchief tied his enemy firmly to its perch. Then he went back to bed, and, though history does not record whether the expedient silenced the rooster or not, Mr. Spencer was so confident that it would that he slept calmly until long after the dreaded hour of his usual awakening.—New York Times.

THANKSGIVING.

President McKinley has issued his Thanksgiving day proclamation as follows:

In rememberance of God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant, let us offer up to Him our thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the Most High. Under His watchful providence industry has prospered, the conditions of labor have been improved, the rewards of the husbandman have been increased and the comforts of our homes multiplied. His Mighty Hand has preserved the peace and protected the nation. Respect for law and order has been strengthened, love of free institutions cherished and all sections of our beloved country brought into closer bond of fraternal regard and generous co-operation.

For these great benefits, it is our duty to praise the Lord in a spirit of humility and gratitude and to offer up to Him our most earnest supplications. That we may acknowledge our obligations as a people to Him who has so graciously granted us the blessings of free government and material prosperity, I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, for national thanksgiving and prayer, which all of the people are invited to observe with appropriate religious services in their respective places of worship.

On this day of rejoicing and domestic reunion, let our prayers ascend to the giver of every good and perfect gift, for the continuance of his love and favor to us, that our hearts may be filled with charity and good will, and that we may be ever worthy of his beneficent concern.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 29th day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-second. WILLIAM MCKINLEY

By the President:
JOHN SHERMAN, Secretary of the State.

OWING to a lack of police protection in Sonoma the past few years the lawless element has had things pretty much their own way in this town, but thanks to Sheriff Allen and his efficient Deputy, Chas. H. Ohm, the evil-doers are being brought to justice one by one. The indictment of Fouts and Cozine on two charges each of arson and burglary by the Grand Jury, on Tuesday last, is but the entering wedge to suppress lawlessness in this community. There was an effort made only a few weeks ago by certain parties in Sonoma to toady to the criminal element by having Deputy Sheriff Ohm arrested for jailing a vicious tramp who had assaulted him on the public street. These parties were severely rebuked when the venomous charge against an efficient and fearless officer was dismissed. Law and order are now on top in Sonoma and what is more will remain there. The people of this town are not going to be run by the criminal element and their sympathizers.

RUNNING a newspaper is like running a hotel, only its different. A man goes into a hotel for his dinner and if he finds upon the table something that does not suit his taste he does not go up and throw the landlord down stairs and tell him to stop his hotel. He simply partakes of what he likes. How different with newspapers. When a subscriber finds a two-line item that does not suit him he never stops to think that the item may please others, but he rushes off to the newspaper office, puffs and blows like a locomotive and orders the paper stopped immediately, if not sooner. But the paper does not stop. Only his paper stops going to him and goes to some one else, who subscribed simply because he was pleased with the article that offended the other man. Then the quitter will find out how much he is missed by sticking his finger in a bowl of water, then withdrawing it and looking for the hole. People must realize that a newspaper is published to satisfy as many people as possible. All sorts of news for all sorts of people and if you do strike an item that does not suit you, just let it go for the use of the other fellow.—Carson News.

GOOD LORDY! The Dixon Tribune says that Cornelius William Tennessee Goforth, the tramp who has a hankering after printing offices, isn't dead after all, but that he is still very much alive, kicking and whoopin' 'em up in great shape. This means a semi-annual visit from Bill with the usual request to set 'em up before leaving town or getting into jail.

ALLEN B. LEMMON of the Santa Rosa Republican has assumed the duties of Postmaster of that city. As there is a good salary attached to the job he will now be enabled to live off the flesh pots of Egypt.

SONOMA'S GRAND JURY.

EIGHT CRIMINAL INDICTMENTS FOUND.

The Public Officials of the County Praised for their Efficiency and Honesty.

The Grand Jury, which has been in session in Santa Rosa the past week, concluded its labors on Wednesday morning.

CRIMINAL.

The jury considered eleven criminal cases and eight true bills were found as follows:

One for assault with intent to commit murder.
One for perjury.
One for forgery.
Two for Arson.
Two for burglary.
One for obtaining money under false pretenses.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

"We have given careful and conscientious attention to the management of public affairs of the various county officers during the past year and as a result of such investigation, we desire to express our appreciation of their efficiency, fidelity and honesty in general."

COUNTY CLERK.

With regard to the conduct of the County Clerk's office the jury recommended that new shelving be supplied for record books so that they shall not become worn by standing on end; recommends a rearrangement of the office so that the clerks shall have more privacy and then the papers in the office shall be safe from public inspection; recommends the indexing of the records of the Supervisors with regard to public roads.

COUNTY AUDITOR.

"A thorough investigation of the duties imposed by law upon this office has led us to the conclusion, arrived at by former Grand Juries, namely, that this office should be segregated from and be independent of any other county office."

The Grand Jury recites that this can be done without additional expense to tax-payers; recommends that the Board of Supervisors take action to effect the change at the next election; that the office of the County Auditor be located in the Court House. The report commends the Recorder for his efficient services.

COUNTY RECORDER.

"We recommend that this office discontinue the so-called blotter system." The jury also recommends that the two small rooms used for offices be renovated and repaired.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

"We find the Sheriff's office well conducted. The books and accounts are accurate and well kept." The jury points out that the fees in the office are inadequate and recommends that they be increased.

LICENSE COLLECTOR.

"We find that the License Collector should have been more punctual in performing the duties of his office as regards the collection of license money."

The jury cites that while the county has not suffered material loss, the licenses should be collected more promptly.

ASSESSOR'S OFFICE.

"We have made a thorough inspection of the Assessor's office and find everything in good order." The report recommends the adoption of the Morse system of indexing in this office.

TREASURER'S OFFICE.

"We not only find the accounts of this correct, but the books unusually neat and accurate." The recommendation is made that the wire screen be extended to the ceiling and that the office be renovated and the walls whitened.

SURVEYOR, CORONER, ADMINISTRATOR

"We find the affairs of the County Surveyor, Coroner and Public Administrator in satisfactory condition."

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

"We recognize that in the administration of the business of this office the retiring Superintendent, Hon. E. W. Davis, has exercised praiseworthy economy and while we rejoice in his advancement and regret his departure, we recommend and confidently expect that the same policy of economy will be followed by his newly appointed successor in office."

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

"We commend the very efficient manner in which the District Attorney has discharged the duties of his office." The report congratulates the county in its possession of a prosecuting officer who stands willing and ready at all times to prosecute any infraction of the law.

COUNTY HOSPITAL.

"The management of affairs at the County Farm and Hospital by Dr. M. M. Shearer as physician and T. M. Yates as farmer, is deserving of especial praise."

The report recommends the erection of new indigent buildings; the removal of "scrubby" fruit trees and planting of new ones; that water be introduced to flush water closets; that a new wash house be erected; that the old pump be sold; that better seating facilities be supplied for the assembly hall; that the reservoir be covered with a wooden roof; that the patients suffering from consumption or other contagious diseases be kept in separate rooms; that the store room be made rat proof; the extension of the new water system to other county buildings.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

"The Supervisors deserve commendation for the financial administration of the funds under their control and management." The report recites that notwithstanding the many public improvements made the balance in the county treasury October 1st was more than $7,000 greater than on the same date last year; recommends the purchase of a rock crushing machine for road building; the working of the prisoners in the jail on public improvements; endorses the sprinkling of county roads; recommends the investigation of the condition of Alexander Valley and Calistoga bridge.

COUNTY BUILDINGS.

"We have inspected the county buildings, inside and out, and find them in good condition."

COUNTY JAIL.

The report recommends certain repairs to the County Jail for the safe keeping of prisoners.

EXPERT'S REPORT.

"We desire to express our satisfaction with the able, conscientious and thorough manner in which our expert, Prof. C. H. Nielsen, has performed the difficult task assigned him. His report of the various county officers we found concise, accurate and complete."

A Piece of Parchment

When unwritten on, is not more colorless than the cadaverous countenance of those unfortunate persons whom we are accustomed to call "confirmed invalids." What a misnomer! implying, too, despair, a giving up for lost! As long as the vivifying powers of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can be felt, and that is possible as long as there is no absolute collapse of the faculties, fresh vitality can be infused into wasted, feeble frames; color and flesh can be brought back to wasted, pallid cheeks with this grand sheet anchor of the debilitated and the sickly. It is a tonic of the greatest potency and the utmost purity, and a remedy for and preventative of dyspepsia, bilious, malarious, rheumatic, nervous and kidney complaints. Appetite and sleep are greatly aided by it; it counteracts the effects of undue fatigue, or excitement, and nullifies the often perilous consequences of exposure in inclement weather or damp clothing.

IN MEMORIAM.

[TO THE LATE LILLEY CASTAGNASSO]

Sweet little face, but oh so pale,
Another fair lily from Sonoma's vale;
Her sufferings over, free from care,
The Angels in Heaven wanted her there.

Speak of her kindly now she's at rest,
Clasp her hands gently across her pure breast;
Smooth from her brow her soft silken hair,
The Angels in Heaven wanted her there.

Do not weep father; mother grieve not,
Now she's in Heaven happy's her lot;
At morn and at eve for her say a prayer,
The Angels in Heaven wanted her there.

Impure Blood

Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles and Sick Headache the Results—Doctored for Years Without Relief.

"My blood was out of order, and I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has purified my blood and relieved me of rheumatism, kidney trouble and sick headaches. I have been afflicted with these difficulties for years. I am now able to do a good day's work. Rheumatism has troubled me since I was a child, but I am now entirely well." MISS PHEOBE BAILEY, Box 445, Pasadena, California.

"I have suffered from the effects of impure blood, boils, pimples, etc., for five years. I have tried various remedies without relief and finally purchased six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The boils and pimples have all disappeared since I began taking this medicine. I am now entirely cured." LOUIS THOMAS, 1412 11th Street, Oakland, California.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

JAS. McDONNELL, JR., DEAD.

Expires Suddenly at His Home in Berkeley.

Jas. McDonnell, Jr., for a number of years a resident of Sonoma, but who removed with his family to Berkeley five or six years ago, is dead. His death came very sudden. On Sunday afternoon last, after partaking of a hearty meal, he lay down on a lounge in his sitting room and shortly after expired, his complaint being paralysis of the heart.

"Little Mac," as he was familiarly known to his Sonoma friends, during an eight or ten years residence here, held a number of positions of public trust. He was elected City Clerk in the spring of 1886 by a handsome majority. In the fall of the same year he was elected Assemblyman from the Seventeenth District, defeating Judge Cavanaugh, the Democratic nominee.

Mr McDonnell was a Republican to the backbone and was one of the most active party workers that this town ever produced.

City Trustees.

The City Trustees met last Wednesday evening in regular session, a full Board being present for the first time in several months.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and approved the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Robt. A. Poppe, salary	$ 25.00
J. E. Robin, salary	15.00
C. Aguillon, water	14.93
A. Caminata, labor	2.00
John Revie, hauling gravel	2.25
L. Breitenbach, labor	1.00
John N. Stademan, street contract	75.00
Wm. Green, lumber	6.00
G. S. Harris, sprinkling	36.00
H. H. Granice, printing	10.00
Total	$187.18

The bill of S. Schocken for $150 was again laid over to be taken up at the next meeting.

The bill of County Surveyor Ricksecker for $12.50 for establishing the grade of First-street East was laid over until the same could be examined by the Clerk, some of the items on the bill having been objected to.

Clerk Poppe reported that according to instructions he had notified all the parties mentioned in the resolution introduced at the last regular meeting to recurb their sidewalks without unnecessary delay. He also reported having notified the relatives of the late Otto Schetter, Jr., to remove his remains from the receiving vault in Mountain Cemetery.

On motion of Trustee Hartin, seconded by Trustee Bulotti, the Street Committee was instructed to report to the Board at its next meeting the different widths of the sidewalk on First-street West between Spain and Napa streets and recommend a uniform width for same.

Trustee Modini of the Cemetery Committee called the attention of the Board to needed repairs to the receiving vault in Mountain Cemetery. No action.

The question of draining the gutterways of Second-street East came up for discussion and after considerable talk it was agreed that the Board would meet next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and make a personal examination as to the necessity of the suggested drainage.

The Trustees then adjourned.

Death of Miss Amy Zoberbier.

Miss Amy Zoberbier, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Zoberbier of Agua Caliente, died of erysipelas on Wednesday last in San Francisco, whither she had been taken for medical treatment. The funeral, which was private, took place in that city on Friday.

ARSON AND BURGLARY.

George Cozine and Louis Fouts Indicted by the Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury on Tuesday night last filed four indictments against Louis Fouts and George Cozine of this place. The indictments charge both with arson and burglary. The men are accused of setting fire to R. B. Thomas' barn and burglarizing Schocken's wine cellar. Fouts, it is said, has made a full confession of the numerons incendiary fires in this place and other arrests and indictments are sure to follow. That the men had confederates hardly admits of a doubt and it is said that Fouts' confession will develop startling disclosures. The arrest and indictment of Fouts and Cozine was brought about by the detective work and skill of Deputy Sheriff Chas. Ohm.

Sporting Notes.

Ducks are reported to be quite plentiful this week in the tules bordering Sonoma creek and the First and Second Napa creeks.

Joe Ryan, Wm. Church and Gus Cornelius took their pack of greyhounds out last Sunday for a run on the hills near Lakeville. Fourteen hares were jumped up and out of this number twelve were run down and captured by the fleet-footed hounds.

Fred. Goess, the sixteen-year-old son of G. A. Goess of this place, is the boss juvenile hunter of Sonoma. On Sunday last he returned from the marshes south of town with twenty-five sprig, mallard and teal, most of which he brought down on the wing. Considering the scarcity of ducks this is a good showing for a youngster.

Sonoma Skip, one of the speediest and most promising greyhounds ever brought to this valley, will shortly be taken to the Ingleside coursing grounds, San Francisco, and entered in the races by Jos. Ryan and Gus. Cornelius. Great results are expected from this dog, as he is just in his prime, being but three years old.

Literary Note.

THE OVERLAND MONTHLY is advertising extensively an interesting "Missing Word Contest." The sentence they give is: "The ——— had fled away from these two wanderers." This is taken from a New England classic by a writer whose name is a household word. The prize is $1,000, to be given to the person finding the correct answer, or divided among the fortunate finders if there are more than one. The only condition is that the guess shall be accompanied by one dollar as a subscription to the Overland, at its reduced price. This condition is no hardship; for the Overland at a dollar is in itself a great big prize. Ten cents sent its publisher at San Francisco will bring a sample copy and full particulars of the contest. Recent numbers are filled with beautiful pictures and interesting articles.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR.

Valley of the Moon Chapter Entertains its Friends.

With its decorations of flowers, evergreens and potted palms Masonic Hall took on the aspect of a private drawing room on Friday evening of last week at the informal reception given by the ladies of Valley of the Moon Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. After the guests had been received and seated a guessing game was introduced in which all participated. Mrs. Wm. Thomas was the successful competitor, she having guessed nineteen out of twenty-eight articles pertaining to music. After this a short musical programme was presented. Miss Claire Hope and Mrs. Blanche Weems delighted the company with vocal solos. Then followed Sonoma's male quartette composed of Messrs. Gaines, Johnson, Leach and Rea, which was never heard to better advantage than on this evening. The programme over, delicious refreshments were served which were partaken of amid pleasant and merry conversation. After doing full justice to the many good things more games were indulged in to the amusement of all. The Eastern Star ladies of Sonoma are charming hostesses as all who have enjoyed their hospitality on previous occasions can testify to and their efforts to make this a happy affair for their friends were crowned with success. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Mont. Akers, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McMullen, Mr and Mrs. Henry Bates, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Narrow Escape of a Southern Pacific Conductor—Other Matters.

S. Ringstrom returned home from the metropolis Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Ohm has returned from the metropolis, where she spent a few days with her mother.

Mrs. Robt. Howe is rapidly recovering from the effects of her recent illness in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Spaulding will return to their San Francisco home on Vallejo street about the middle of November. Mrs Spaulding's health has greatly improved during her sojourn here.

Conductor Gage of the Southern Pacific Company had a narrow escape from being crushed to death by his train on Saturday morning last while switching cars at the station in this place. Mr. Gage had alighted from the train, which went down the track a short distance to enter the switch. In a few minutes the train commenced to back up. This was not noticed by the conductor who stood on the main track examining some way bills. When the cars were almost upon him he happened to glance up and at the same instant he jumped for his life. He was not quick enough, however, as the car struck him on the back and hurled him with great force to the ground. The left side of his face was terribly lacerated and he was otherwise badly bruised. When picked up he was insensible. He was lifted into the train and taken to Santa Rosa for surgical treatment. Dr. Jesse of that place dressed the wounds, which, although painful, are not considered dangerous. His injuries, however, will lay him up for some time.

COUNTY GLEANINGS.

Sunday night a very destructive fire occurred at Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkinson's ranch at Bodega Bay. A big barn 125x50 feet was reduced to ashes. The fire undoubtedly was the work of an incendiary. About fifty tons of hay, wagons, harness and other farm implements were destroyed. A calf also perished in the flames.

The difficulty between Dr. Mathe and the Wine Makers' Corporation over a sale of wine has been amicably adjusted out of court. It grew out of a misunderstanding and some recent amendments to the rules of the corporation. The sale of 250,000 gallons of wine by Dr. Mathe was permitted to go through without opposition and the wine brought a very handsome figure.—Republican.

The dwelling house on the Jerry Lafferty ranch, situated on the west side of Sonoma Mountain, was burned to the ground on Monday morning last. The property is owned by the Sonoma County Water Company and was unoccupied. The building was fired, it is supposed, by incendiaries. Loss unknown. The barn on the place was also burned this summer.

One of the most disastrous fires ever recorded in the history of Healdsburg occurred there Sunday morning when about $50,000 worth of property was destroyed. The Sotoyome meat market, A. Thumann's jewelry store, the cigar factory of Charles Wickham, the tailoring establishment of M. Jacobs, the shoe store of H. Hansen and a vacant storeroom of P. Lanan were burned. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A young man named O'Donnell, says the Petaluma Courier, seventeen years of age, who resides with his parents on the Delehanty ranch below town, met with a severe accident of a decidedly peculiar nature, late on Saturday. He was out hunting and fired both barrels, when the gun kicked and the hammer caught him in the mouth. One tooth was knocked out and the upper lip was split and torn, being turned back nearly to the cheek bone. The wound is a severe one, and even though it heals quickly the young man will not be able to speak for some time.

A half-witted Italian named Zanoni threw a stick of wood into a crowd of his fellow countrymen who were congregated in the rear of Pometta's store, Petaluma, on Monday evening last. The missile struck P. Zumini in the right eye, destroying the sight of that organ. The injured man and a number of friends were playing the Italian game called "botcha." After its conclusion Zanoni entered the alley and began to play alone. "You play like a fool." said Zumini, to which the other made a retort. This led to hot words, when Zumini knocked the other man's hat off several times and he fled into the store. There he found a piece of wood and returning to the back door he threw it with great force, hitting Zumini in the eye as above described.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. SONOMA, SATURDAY, NOV. 6, 1897.

The Rothschilds.

Anselm Rothschild had five sons—Anselm Mayer, Nathan, Solomon, James and Carl—who scattered over Europe and established branches of the parent bank at Frankfort in Vienna, London, Naples and Paris. As early as 1820 they were the greatest bankers in the world, making a specialty of government loans. Honors and decorations were showered upon them by grateful kings, and they were recognized socially where other Jews were not. They obtained titles of nobility in England, Germany, Austria and France. A Rothschild has been consul general for the Austrian empire in London, Paris and Frankfort for more than half a century. The sons inherited the financial genius of their father, but those who have studied their career in detail hold that the success of the family has been due to the fact that its great business has always been conducted with a unity of aim and interest. The dying injunction of Anselm Rothschild to his sons was that none of them should ever undertake an important financial transaction without consulting his mother and his brothers. This continues to be the rule of the house in the present generation. Every serious matter of business is the subject of mutual consideration and is carried out by the united efforts of the whole family, every one of whom participates in the profits according to his position. While the great banks are in a measure separate and distinct, they are nevertheless the same, and the family, now very large, is a single firm with a single interest.

They have made it a rule to intermarry and have defied the doctrine of the scientists who have forbidden the marriage of relatives on the ground that it debilitates a race. A Rothschild always looks among his cousins for a wife; uncles have married nieces, nephews have married aunts.

Another reason of their great success is said to be that they have never striven for extravagant profits. They always set a limit to their operations and never try to get the last cent. They sell out during the heat of an undertaking and never wait till speculation gets cold. "Let some one else make something" is a favorite adage with the Rothschilds, but some one else has usually pocketed the loss.—Chicago Record.

Limitations of Fame.

In Professor Knight's reminiscences of Tennyson it is related that on one occasion when the poet laureate was stopping at an inn in the island of Skye the landlord was asked if he knew who had been staying in his house, and on being informed that it was the poet Tennyson he replied:

"Lor'—to think o' that! And, sure, I thoucht he was shentleman."

At Stirling some one asked the landlord of the house where the poet was stopping:

"Do you ken who you had wi' you t'other night?"

"Naa, but he was a plecsant shentleman."

"It was Tennyson, the poet."

"And wha may be he?"

"Oh, he is a writer o' verses sich as ye see i' the papers."

"Noo, to think o' that! Jeest a pooblic writer, and I gied him ma best bedroom!"

But the charms of Mrs. Tennyson, her gracious manners, did not pass unnoticed, for the landlord said, "Oh, she was an angel."

The Cockney Gallery God.

Charles Mathews had reached the allotted age of man before he played his "farewell engagement" in London. One night there was an unconscionably long "wait" in the performance of "My Awful Dad." After the statutory ten minutes had expired and the curtain showed no signs of rising one of the "gods" vociferated, "Do hurry along, or else Charley will be too old to act." The wit of the gallery is proverbial, and it was never more keenly exercised than on the first night of a London production some years since. The leading actor—a well known man—took an unconscionable time dying and ladled out the "lengths" with tedious elaboration. Whereupon a voice from the upper regions exclaimed, "We hope we're not keeping you u.. sir."

Gave Him Another Chance.

A young man who had been two days at the Ponce de Leon on what may well be called a combination of business and pleasure, since he was courting a millionaire's daughter temporarily residing there, went to the clerk and asked for his bill.

The clerk looked at the young man carefully for a long moment, then made out and handed over a bill for $288.

The young man did not stagger or grow pallid. He tossed the slip of paper back to the clerk and said: "Guess again, you chump. I've got more money than that."—New York Times.

Roasting Coffee.

In Norway, where superb coffee is made, a bit of butter is added to the beans while they are roasting in the covered shovel used there for that purpose. In France, as well, a piece of butter the size of a walnut is put with three pounds of the coffee beans, and also a dessertspoonful of powdered sugar. This brings out both flavor and scent, and, moreover, gives the slight caramel taste which will be remembered as a pleasing part of French coffee.—New York Post.

Waning Allegiance.

"I am afraid Colonel Poazer is losing his patriotism. Have you noticed that he has quit taking off his hat when he meets an American flag?"

"The colonel is getting bald."—Indianapolis Journal.

Don't Hurry.

Life is too short and the work for each of us to do too important for us to waste time in hurrying. Calmness and thought accomplish more.—Louisville Western Recorder.

Sick at Sea.

Walter Wellman gives us the following statistics as to a voyage with moderately rough seas or long swell: Men seasick and invisible, 20 per cent; men sick and on deck, but not going down to meals, 25 per cent; men who go to meals, but only nibble through pride's sake, 15 per cent; men who were "never seasick," but who have "eaten something that disagreed with them," 10 per cent; men not sick at all, 25 per cent; women too sick to leave their cabins, 35 per cent; women sick on deck, 40 per cent; women who are "not seasick at all," but who have "bad headaches," 15 per cent; women who "don't feel just right," 7 per cent, and women who really enjoy it, 3 per cent.

Coal Miners.

One million and a half men work in the coal mines of the world. Of these Great Britain has 535,000; United States, 300,000; Germany, 285,000; Belgium, 100,000; Russia, 44,000. The world's miners of metal number 4,000,000.

The German emperor's imperial train cost $830,000 and took three years to construct. There are altogether 12 cars, including two nursery carriages. The reception saloon contains several pieces of statuary, and each of the sleeping cars is fitted with a bath.

The republic of Guatemala has over 16,000 saloons and taverns. In the country districts there is 1 to every 82 inhabitants; in the towns 1 to every 52.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention the Sonoma Index-Tribune and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

The Wonders of Science.

LUNG TROUBLE AND CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

AN EMINENT NEW YORK CHEMIST AND SCIENTIST MAKES A FREE OFFER TO OUR READERS.

The distinguished New York chemist, T. A. Slocum, demonstrating his discovery of a reliable and absolute cure for Consumption (Pulmonary Tuberculosis) and all bronchial, throat, lung and chest diseases, stubborn coughs, catarrhal affections, general decline and weakness, loss of flesh, and all conditions of wasting away, will send THREE FREE BOTTLES (all different) of his New Discoveries to any afflicted reader of the INDEX-TRIBUNE writing for them.

His "New Scientific Treatment" has cured thousands permanently by its timely use, and he considers it a simple professional duty to suffering humanity to donate a trial of his infallible cure.

Science daily develops new wonders, and this great chemist, patiently experimenting for years, has produced results as beneficial to humanity as can be claimed by any modern genius. His assertions that lung troubles and consumption are curable in any climate is proven by "heartfelt letters of gratitude," filed in his American and European laboratories in thousands from those cured in all parts of the world.

Medical experts concede that bronchial, chest and lung troubles lead to consumption, which, uninterrupted, means speedy and certain death.

Simply write to T. A. Slocum, M. C., 98 Pine street, New York, giving postoffice and express address, and the free medicine will be promptly sent. Sufferers should take instant advantage of his generous proposition.

Please tell the Doctor that you saw his offer in the INDEX-TRIBUNE.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. A Patent Office Incident.

The patent office official bowed politely from his place at his desk as the visitor in clothes of Teric cut and a smooth face greeted him with a subdued "Good morning, sir."

"Good morning," responded the official, with a cheerful, $150 a month manner. "Is there anything we can do for you this morning?"

"I don't know really, sir," crooned the caller softly. "To know if you can is the object of my visit this morning, sir."

"Very well, state your case, and if we can do anything for you you may rest assured it will be done."

The visitor cleared his throat pretty much as if he were going to deliver a sermon.

"I think," he said slowly and with hesitation, "if I mistake not, that I saw a statement in some one of the public prints to the effect that this office would not issue a patent on Sunday. Is that true, sir?"

"Quite true. It does not."

"Why is that, sir, if I may ask?"

"It is against the rules of the office is all I know."

"Will it issue one on any other day of the seven, sir?"

"Certainly it will. That is what it is here for."

"Oh, thank you, how nice," twittered the visitor, taking a large madras handkerchief from his coattail pocket, shaking it out and wiping his brow with it. "That being the case, if you will be kind enough to let me have one on Tuesday, sir, you will do me a great personal favor. You see, sir, Tuesday is my birthday, and I want a patent on it so no one can use it for birthday purposes, sir, except myself."—Washington Star.

Mental Telegraphy.

"Let me take your hat, John, dear. I'll close the door. You're tired, I know. Give me another kiss. What's one?"

"Thank you, my dear. You are very thoughtful."

"Of you always, to be sure, you poor, dear boy. I have the nicest supper for you. Look—some lovely biscuits, the kind of cake you like best and your favorite preserves too!"

"How kind of you."

"Not at all. It's a wife's duty, you know, to study her husband's wishes and comfort."

"Why, so it is! I had quite forgotten that."

"Now, John, aren't you pleased?"

"Oh, of course, of course, my darling, only"—

"Well, only"—

"Nothing, nothing—but you've been down town this afternoon, haven't you?"

"Why, John, how did you guess? Yes."

"And to the milliner's?"

"You're a mind reader."

"No, not at all." (After a reflective pause.) "Well, here it is."

"Oh, John, $10—you dear, sweet, good hubby."

"Um—yes—ain't I? But, come on, let's have that delicious supper now. I need it." (To himself, as he spreads his first biscuit) "Mind reader—I guess so! I thought she was talking through her hat, and she was."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Greeks as Fighters.

Smolenski had placed a battery of mountain guns on a plateau overlooking the village of Velestino, and along the base of this plateau was a battalion of Evzones, sheltered by the position of the ground and by intrenchments. The battery on the plateau played on the Turkish advance with great effect, and the order was given by the Turkish commander to charge it. The Turkish infantry swung clear, and the cavalry, led by a young officer, came on in column, first at the trot and then at a swinging gallop. It seemed a mad undertaking for cavalry to charge a battery of well served artillery planted on the crest of a long, steep slope.

The brave horsemen were met with salvos of shells which plowed through their ranks. Then suddenly uprose the Evzones from their partially hidden cover and poured upon them volley after volley. No troops could withstand such fire, and, completely broken, the Turkish horsemen turned and sought shelter in the woods in the neighborhood of Risomylos.—"With the Greeks In Thessaly," by W. Kinnaird Rose.
